

Christian Education & Formation Newsletter

January 2016 News & Updates

Welcome to 2016! How many of you started off the year by promising yourself you would eat better, shed a few pounds, spend more time with your family, or learn something new? What was your motivation for making these resolutions? Maybe the reason behind your resolution was self-improvement or perhaps you have a reunion this year and want to look and feel your best.

What if you were to look at this desire to make changes in your life through a different lens? What if your resolutions, like those of pastor, writer and theologian Jonathan Edwards, were rooted in the desire to live in a way that is pleasing to God? As faith formation leaders we are called to model this holistic behavior and equip people to apply Christian practices to everyday life.

Christian Practices

Christian practices help us integrate our faith into everyday life in response to and in light of God's presence in our world.

There is a wealth of information available on Christian practices, however, as a starting point I recommend the following:

- What is a Christian Practice?, an article by Dorothy Bass that provides a comprehensive, working definition
- Practicing Our Faith Website: www.practicingourfaith.org
- Strategies for Faith Formation in Christian Practices by John Roberto
- Faith Practices Download Files from the United Church of Christ (Note: while the Faith Practices curriculum is no longer available for sale, you may download the resources at no charge)
- Living Well: Christian Practices for Everyday Life by LifeLong Faith Associates
